IN THE EYE OF THE STORM — REBUILDING JUSTICE AMIDST PAKISTAN'S DEEPENING INEQUALITY

Pakistan finds itself in a pivotal moment fraught with the threat of external conflict in the region, regression and hope. While the country's overall standing remains dire, with a 148 out of 148 ranking in the World Economic Forum's Global Gender Gap Index, recent legislative progress has illuminated a flicker of possibility. The National Assembly's unanimous passage of the Child Marriage Restraint Bill for Islamabad (banning marriage under the age of 18) is a significant milestone in the fight to protect children's rights and align with global commitments such as SDG 5: Gender Equality. It's a welcome shift in a landscape where progress has long felt elusive.

Yet one progressive law in the capital does not erase the stark realities faced by millions across the provinces. Gender-based violence remains rampant, child abuse cases are escalating, and systemic barriers continue to deny justice to those most in need. These are the daily realities in which the Legal Aid Society operates and which became even more daunting following the sudden suspension of international donor funding earlier this year.

This funding crisis was more than financial; it was existential. With 80% of our programming disrupted almost overnight, we were forced to confront an uncomfortable truth: our mission to deliver justice cannot rely on aid alone.

And so, LAS began its most ambitious transformation yet. We are reengineering our financial model to build long-term resilience and mission-aligned independence. Between April and June, this pivot took meaningful shape:

- We launched the Justice Champions Initiative, mobilizing diaspora communities from Seattle to Toronto to Dubai. This effort seeks to turn global solidarity into sustainable giving for access to justice.
- We expanded our corporate training programs offering targeted modules on compliance, workplace safety, and digital rights. These trainings don't just serve corporates; they fund our frontline work for survivors.
- We initiated deeper engagement with CSR partners and foundations, positioning legal empowerment as a key lever in ESG strategies and corporate accountability.
- We pioneered AI-driven training modules for lawyers and judges; marking a first-of-its-kind initiative in Pakistan. These modules aim to equip legal professionals with the skills to navigate a rapidly evolving legal-tech

- landscape and to apply emerging technologies ethically and effectively within justice systems.

And behind the scenes, we continue to lay the groundwork for more bold innovations designed to protect our work from political and financial volatility while scaling impact through innovation.

Our on-the-ground impact continues to drive this mission forward. Between April and June:

- [XYZ] callers reached out to our SLACC helpline, seeking guidance on everything from domestic abuse to civil rights.
- 36 clients were represented in courts across Pakistan—women, children, and marginalized individuals whose cases might otherwise have gone unheard.

We are, in every way, rebuilding the future of justice—not just for today, but for generations to come.

At a time when systems falter and silence reigns, LAS remains a voice, a shield, and a force for equity. We are not just surviving this storm we are reshaping it into a new dawn for justice in Pakistan and are grateful to you for your support.

Policy Brief and Project Report Disseminated to Key Stakeholders

SLACC's new policy brief, "Facilitating Women's Access to Property Rights through Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR)," reveals critical insights. Only 11% of Pakistani women hold legal property titles, despite 33% believing otherwise, highlighting misinformation. A survey of 731 women in Sindh shows 59% face mobility restrictions and 65% require permission to leave home, complicating legal recourse. From 2018–2023, SLACC handled over 22,000 property-related inquiries, with 49% of male callers seeking help for female relatives, indicating limited legal access for women. Notably, 73% of women favor non-litigation methods like mediation. SLACC advocates for women-focused ADR, supported by legal reforms and trained mediators, to ensure justice is accessible and gender-sensitive.

GLOBAL SPOTLIGHT ON ACCESS TO JUSTICE

WHAT HAPPENED AT TED...DIDN'T STAY AT TED

Our CEO recently returned from TED 2025 in Vancouver — an energizing second-time experience filled with bold ideas and global conversations. This year, the spotlight was on AI, with thought-provoking talks by leaders like Eric Schmidt and Sam Altman. While the pace of innovation is breathtaking, the regulatory lag is deeply concerning. Amidst the awe, our CEO left with what she calls "desperate optimism" — a belief in the quiet power of daily service. From climate action to justice reform, TED reminded us that ordinary people everywhere are solving extraordinary problems. The mission remains: show up, stay rooted, and keep building.

SCALES OF JUSTICE TIPPED IN OUR FAVOR

We're proud to share that the Legal Aid Society has received the 2025 Community Champion Award from Street Law, Inc. at their annual gala in Washington, D.C. This recognition means the world to us as it highlights our journey to institutionalize Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) across Pakistan. Through meaningful partnerships, especially with Street Law, we've trained law students and faculty in mediation to make justice more accessible. As our CEO Haya Zahid said while accepting the award, this honor affirms our belief that justice must be immediate, inclusive, and rooted in community needs.

JUSTICE KNOWS NO BORDER

On May 1st, CEO Haya Zahid joined a special conversation in Washington, DC, hosted by Namati and the Grassroots Justice Network. She highlighted LAS's groundbreaking work — from Pakistan's first prison paralegal program to an AI legal advice chatbot built on insights from over 500,000 helpline calls.

Amid stories of resilience and funding challenges, the message was clear: innovation and determination remain central to expanding access to justice in Pakistan and beyond.

STRENGTHENING THE GOVERNMENT'S RESPONSE TO SEXUAL VIOLENCE IN PAKISTAN

NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON SURVIVOR-CENTERED APPROACHES

On 16 April 2025, LAS and partners hosted a National Learning & Sharing Conference in Islamabad, bringing together stakeholders from the criminal justice system, civil society, and donor agencies. The dialogue focused on strengthening implementation of the Anti-Rape Act, improving forensic protocols, addressing technology-facilitated GBV, and enhancing survivor-centered coordination. Provincial best practices, especially from Sindh, were shared as reform models.

ADVOCACY FOR ANTI-RAPE LAW IMPLEMENTATION IN BALUCHISTAN

From 29–30 May 2025, LAS and UNFPA held high-level advocacy meetings with key stakeholders in Balochistan including the Additional Secretary (Health), Special Secretary (Home), Secretary (Women Development), and Additional IG Police to strengthen implementation of the Anti-Rape (Investigation and Trial) Act, 2021. Discussions focused on operationalizing Anti-Rape Crisis Cells (ARCCs), Special Sexual Offences Investigation Units (SSOIs), and introducing the Balochistan Sexual Violence Response Framework (BSVRF). Stakeholders showed strong interest in interdepartmental coordination and joint training to advance survivor-centered justice.

MULTI-SECTORAL TRAINING ON GBV & ANTI-RAPE PROTOCOLS IN KP

From 27–29 May 2025, LAS, in collaboration with UNFPA and the Khyber Pakhtunkhwa Judicial Academy, conducted a three-day training for police, medico-legal officers, and prosecutors. The sessions addressed investigation, medico-legal, and prosecutorial protocols under the Anti-Rape Act, fostering cross-sector collaboration to improve justice delivery in GBV cases amidst critically low conviction rates.

STRENGTHENING SGBV RESPONSE THROUGH TECHNICAL WORKING GROUPS – SINDH

In collaboration with the Sindh Government's Multi-Sectoral Coordination Committee (MSCC), LAS is advancing key reforms to combat sexual and gender-based violence (SGBV). Two consultations with 30 government officials identified major gaps including untrained investigation officers, weak inter-agency coordination, and limited enforcement. Recommendations focused on operationalizing SSOUs, district-level rollout, centralized GBV data systems, and survivor-centered one-stop protection centers underscoring Sindh's commitment to trauma-informed, coordinated justice.

MULTI-SECTORAL TRAINING SESSION IN SINDH

Between May and June 2025, the Legal Aid Society (LAS), in partnership with the Sindh Judicial Academy and UNFPA, held four powerful training sessions in Karachi and Hyderabad on the Anti-Rape (Investigation and Trial) Act, 2021. These joint, multi-sectoral trainings brought together 87 key stakeholders, Medico-Legal Officers, Prosecutors, and Police Officials—to break silos and build a coordinated, survivor-centered response to sexual violence. Led by experts Mr. Naveed Ahmed Soomro and Dr. Summaiya Syed, the sessions blended legal insights with hands-on medico-legal demonstrations, offering practical tools for evidence collection, ethical examinations, and managing sensitive cases. With an average post-training knowledge gain of over 17%, the sessions not only deepened understanding of the Anti-Rape Act and its 2022 Rules but also fostered inter-agency collaboration, laying the foundation for a stronger, more responsive justice system in Sindh.

LEGAL TRAINING FOR NIKKAH REGISTRARS AND UC OFFICIALS

On 16 June in Mirpurkhas and Umerkot, nikkah khuwans, registrars, and Union Council officials received training on enforcing Sindh's law against child marriage. The session emphasized their critical role in preventing underage marriages and positioned them as frontline enforcers of child protection laws.

TRAINING FOR PEACE: EQUIPPING SINDH'S FRONTLINE MEDIATORS

As part of our ongoing commitment to sustainable peace in Sindh, the Legal Aid Society — in collaboration with A4ID — conducted one-day training sessions for District Peace Committee (DPC) members across Hyderabad, Dadu, Sanghar, and Sukkur. These sessions focused on equipping members with practical tools in conflict resolution, stakeholder engagement, and early warning mechanisms.

The initiative prioritized inclusivity, ensuring the active participation of women, religious minorities, and differently-abled individuals. Prominent religious scholars and civil society representatives also joined the sessions, reinforcing a community-driven approach to peacebuilding.

By fostering local leadership and strengthening grassroots networks, we aim to prevent conflict, promote social harmony, and build a more just and peaceful Sindh.

STRENGTHENING MULTISECTORAL COORDINATION UNDER THE ANTI-RAPE ACT

The Legal Aid Society, in collaboration with UNFPA Pakistan, the Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office (FCDO), and UK Aid, conducted two-day multisectoral trainings at the Sindh Judicial Academy, Karachi. Two batches of criminal justice sector actors participated in these sessions, aimed at enhancing coordination in the implementation of the Anti-Rape Act, 2021.

Through interactive discussions and cross-sector engagement, the trainings focused on building a shared understanding of roles, responsibilities, and best practices to ensure survivor-centered justice.

These trainings mark another step toward a more responsive, collaborative justice system in Pakistan.

FCDO REPRESENTATIVE VISITS ANTI-RAPE CRISIS CELL TO OBSERVE SURVIVOR-CENTERED RESPONSE

FCDO representatives visited the Anti-Rape Crisis Cell at Jinnah Postgraduate Medical Centre to observe the multi-sectoral model providing survivor-centered medico-legal, psychological, and legal support.

Established through efforts by LAS, UNFPA, and partners, the ARCC reflects a continued commitment to strengthening institutional responses to sexual violence.

UNITING VOICES TO END CHILD MARRIAGE

The Legal Aid Society, in collaboration with UNFPA Pakistan, the Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office (FCDO), and UK Aid, hosted a high-level consultation on child marriage aimed at developing a unified provincial narrative to challenge the social and religious norms sustaining this harmful practice.

Bringing together government officials, civil society organizations, youth leaders, religious scholars, and lawmakers, the session focused on actionable strategies to protect children's rights and eliminate child marriage in Pakistan.

The message was clear: collective action is key to safeguarding the future of our children.

STAGES OF CHANGE: THEATRE AGAINST CHILD MARRIAGE

In collaboration with Tehrik-e-Niswan, the Legal Aid Society brought to life a powerful theatre performance that told the story of a young girl forced into marriage as soon as she reached puberty. Through raw emotion and unflinching storytelling, the play laid bare the devastating physical, emotional, and psychological toll of child marriage.

But the message didn't end with the curtain call. Community members were trained to carry the conversation forward — transforming awareness into grassroots action.

Because no child should have to trade her dreams for a tradition.

Say NO to child marriage.

Say YES to education, protection, and dignity.

We're proud to announce our partnership with the Petroleum Institute of Pakistan (PIP) to deliver targeted, high-impact trainings across the oil and gas industry. Through this collaboration, the Legal Aid Society will offer tailored modules on gender sensitivity, workplace harassment prevention, mediation advocacy, arbitration, and negotiation — all led by our internationally accredited trainers.

From mediation to inclusive workplace strategies, we're driving meaningful change — one session at a time. Stay tuned for upcoming training dates and opportunities to engage.

ACCESS TO JUSTICE THROUGH MEDIATION: A LANDMARK PARTNERSHIP

In a significant stride toward institutionalizing mediation in Pakistan, the Legal Aid Society and MICADR have signed an MoU with the Centre for Effective Dispute Resolution (CEDR), a global leader in mediation training and services.

The signing ceremony, graced by Acting Chief Justice of Pakistan Hon. Justice Syed Mansoor Ali Shah, underscored the enduring importance of emotional intelligence in dispute resolution — even in an AI-driven era. He emphasized the partnership's potential to strengthen mediation training, policy frameworks, and a more accessible justice system.

CEDR CEO James South and Principal Consultant Andy Rogers commended LAS and MICADR for championing mediation in the Global South, reaffirming their long-term commitment to the region. Justice Arif Hussain Khilji, Shahzar Ilahi, and Sarha Rasheed represented MICADR at the event.

This milestone marks a decisive move toward making mediation the first — not last — resort for justice in Pakistan.

QUIET CHAMPIONS OF JUSTICE: AN IMPACTFUL PARTNERSHIP WITH ISMAIL GLOBAL

In the World Economic Forum's 2025 Gender Parity Report, Pakistan ranks 148 out of 148 countries. With a gender parity score of just 56.7% and only 22.8% economic participation by women, the figures reflect a deeply entrenched inequality. Yet, behind every statistic lies a human story—one that deserves dignity, protection, and justice. In October 2024, the Legal Aid Society and Ismail Global launched a joint initiative to confront one of Pakistan's most critical human rights challenges: access to justice for survivors of sexual and gender-based violence (SGBV).

Over nine months, this partnership offered free legal representation in over 230 SGBV related cases including domestic violence, rape, child custody, abduction, harassment, and maintenance issues that are often sidelined within the justice system. The results are telling:

While these numbers underscore the legal impact, the real success of this partnership lies in the quiet yet powerful stories of women and children who reclaimed their agency through justice. Together, LAS and Ismail Global continue to reaffirm a simple truth: justice is not a privilege—it is a right.

LAUNCHING THE CHUNRI BAJI READER PROGRAM WITH GOREAD.PK

In partnership with Go Read PK, we've launched the Chunri Baji Reader Program — a powerful initiative where women prisoners step into the role of storytellers for children living in prison.

As Chunri Bajis, these women read carefully selected stories that nurture empathy, confidence, and character in young minds. In doing so, they also find healing, purpose, and a renewed sense of self within the prison environment. Because even behind bars, stories can spark transformation — one reader, one child, one chapter at a time.

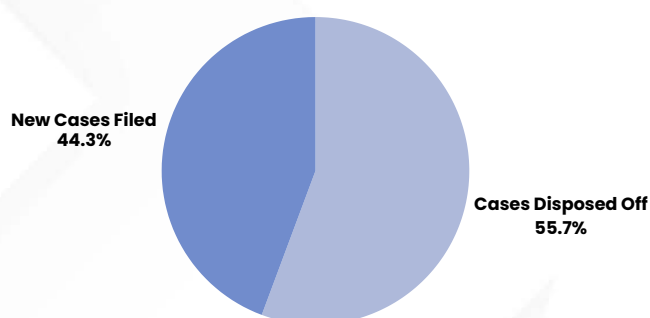

CHAMPIONING JUSTICE FOR MARGINALIZED COMMUNITIES THROUGH STRATEGIC LITIGATION – A DEDICATED EFFORT BY THE LEGAL AID SOCIETY’S TEAM OF HUMAN RIGHTS LAWYERS

At the heart of the Legal Aid Society’s mission lies its Litigation Department—a relentless team of human rights lawyers who stand as the last line of defense for Pakistan’s most marginalized communities.

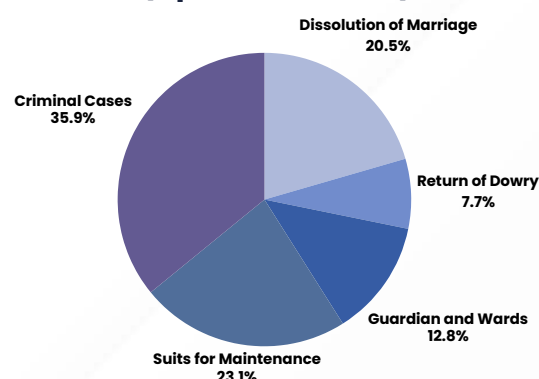

Since 2019, this dedicated unit has filed over 2,000 cases, achieving an extraordinary 82% success rate. Today, the team is managing over 400 active cases across 22 district courts in Sindh, covering critical issues such as sexual and gender-based violence (SGBV), women’s rights, Muslim Family Law, and broader human rights violations.

But these aren’t just numbers. Behind every case is a survivor whose story could have ended in silence—if not for the unwavering support of advocates who believe justice should never depend on one’s means.

Cases for this Quarter
(April–June 2025)

Nature of Cases
(April–June 2025)

In this quarter, the department’s efforts translated into tangible outcomes and milestones, as reflected in the following success stories:

“I fought for eight years. LAS got it done in one hearing.”

Shaheen won her case for maintenance in 2012, but for 8 years, she saw nothing. Frustrated by a broken system, she nearly gave up. One salary slip changed everything. With legal representation, SHE FINALLY SECURED HER RIGHTFUL PAYMENTS IN JUST ONE HEARING.

“Sisters are asked to let go of their inheritance rights, but for brothers, this is never a question.”

For three years, Musalma battled for her rightful inheritance—losing time, family, and peace. She was expected to surrender what was hers. But she refused.

THIS YEAR, SHE WON!
